Are Universities Responsible for Increased Unemployment?

In today's workforce, 'soft skills' have become increasingly valued by employers. Unlike in the past, employees were hired basing on their hard skills, organizations are now putting much emphasis on soft skills like ability to communicate, collaboration and team, flexibility, positive attitude, empathy, work ethics among others. These qualities are not taught in school, but they are increasingly important in order to be competitive at work.

While education, degrees, and certification are important for scoring a job interview, organizations place higher value on soft skills. These intangible qualities affect everything from productivity to the relationship with colleagues at work.

In his address to the MUBS 13th graduating class, the CEO Stanbic Bank Mr. Patrick Mweheire explained that hard skills are what you do, and soft skills are how you do it". Unfortunately, employers believe that the employees' soft skills have gotten worse in the past

What does this mean then!, Employers believe that graduates with soft skills will become increasingly important. In this competitive environment, even the best academic transcripts and CV may not be enough to land you the job, if you lack soft skills.

When organizations are looking for the right people to hire, they identify people with the right skills and qualities to fulfill the role and contribute to the organization's success. Yes, someone may have the qualifications and 'hard skills' needed to be able to do the job but, without 'soft skills', employers are less inclined to hire.

For those who are already in employment, If you are keen to move up within the company or get noticed, improving your soft skills is one of the best ways you can set yourself apart from the competition.

Many of these qualities can be seen in people who have high levels of emotional intelligence. The ability to monitor your own and others' feelings and emotions, and to use this information to guide your thinking and actions. Emotional intelligence, or EQ, is a very important factor in maintaining successful relationships, both personal and professional.

The good news for both organizations and employees is everyone possesses some soft skills. Just like emotional intelligence, soft skills can be developed and continually improved upon. A good measure in developing soft skills is how well you manage the relationships with the people around you, your interactions with others, at work and at home.

Prof Balunywa Re-appointed MUBS Principal

President Yoweri Museveni reappointed Prof. Waswa Balunywa as Principal Makerere University Business School, after his contract expired on May 27, 2018. Prof Balunywa was re appointed MUBS Principal for the next five years.

In a letter instructing the Minister of Education and Sports to effect the re-appointment, the President said, "one of the obstacles that have wasted our time, is a disoriented, pro-imperialism academia" because Prof. Balunywa has always been on the liberation side of ideology in addition to being an active administrator.

"I am writing to direct you to re-appoint Prof. Waswa Balunywa as the Principal Makerere University Business School (MUBS) for another term upon the expiry of this one," the letter read.

Prof. Waswa Balunywa

The letter further stated that, "his institution has been free of strikes. I have never found him averse to advice the times I have interacted with him. Such a person is always good to work with." Prof. Balunywa's re-appointment ended the battle ground between him and Prof. Vanasius Baryamureeba, the MUBS Council Chairman, with whom there has been a sharp fall out over who is the boss.

The Special Council had sat on Monday May 28 2018 and appointed the Deputy Principal Assoc. Prof. Moses Muhwezi Balunywa replace Balunywa. On May 29, 2018 the President wrote to the asking her to re-appoint Balunywa as Principal MUBS.

MUBS to Co-host Global Leadership Peace Conference

Makerere University Business School (MUBS) was nominated to co-host the Global Peace Leadership Conference due on August 1-3 2018.

The nomination was made by the Vice President for the Strategic Partnerships, Global Peace Foundation Mr. David Caprara during their visit to MUBS.

Mr. Caprara accompanied the former President of Zanzibar Dr. Amani Abeid Karume during his visit to MUBS on April 13, 2018.

Karume and his team were in Uganda in April 12, 2018 for the launch of the Global Peace Leadership conference mobile App mobile Application and Website for people to download and get the information about the conference on their mobile phones. The three day conference will be held in Uganda under the theme, "Moral and Innovative Leadership: New Models for sustainable Peace and development".

Prof Suruma tells MUBS graduands to be innovative

Prof Ezra Suruma

Makerere University Chancellor, Prof Ezra Suruma, has encouraged MUBS graduands to be creative and innovative to be able to solve Uganda's problems.

"I encourage you to try new things and new ways of solving Uganda's problems. It is not true that America, Europe, China, World Bank or IMF are going to solve our problems. Yes they can help here and there but if we do not wake up and plan our communities, by setting targets for production and productivity, for coffee, cotton and maize, Uganda will be left behind and even risks to lose its independence," noted Prof. Suruma.

Dr Suruma added that having graduated through an education system that largely examines the ability to cram and memorize facts and figures; the graduands had to reinvent themselves. The skill of cramming and reducing information is a skill that no longer has much value.

He made the remarks while addressing MUBS and ICT- University graduands who received their awards in the various academic qualifications at the MUBS 13th Graduation held on May 24, 2018 at the MUBS main, Nakawa.

Prof. Suruma advised the graduands to be ready to adopt to the new technology to be able to reduce poverty by creating more jobs and also solve community problems like disease, unwanted pregnancies, drugs among others.

Balunywa Still Fit To Run MUBS

Makerere Vice Chancellor Prof Barnabas Nawangwe said Prof Waswa Balunywa still has the appropriate capabilities and ideas to continue leading MUBS.

He made the remarks while speaking at MUBS 13th Graduation Ceremony held on April 24, 2018. Prof. Nawangwe recalled the obscurity from which Prof. Balunywa lifted MUBS. "I remember accompanying you here 20 years ago to start this Institution in a very obscure premises that used to be Nakawa College of Business Studies as you came to take over. It feels like yesterday but the way you have transformed this place is testimony to your good transformation leadership skills," Nawangwe said "I can not believe you are leaving this school which you ably nurtured from scratch to the giant it is today. I do not want to believe that you are leaving but even if you do, you are leaving a mark on this institution that nobody will ever erase." Nawangwe added: "Makerere is greater today than it would have been because of what you made MUBS to become. I'm very hopeful you are getting a new term. From what I know, it's only you to decide when you want to leave." Nawangwe also said that the fact that the overall best humanities student Caroline Namyanya [who got a CGPA of 4.95] at Makerere's 68th graduation ceremony held January 2018 was from MUBS shows very high academic standards set by Balunywa's "excellent management style.

MAK Commends MUBS' Examination Integrity

Prof. Barnabas Nawangwe

Makerere Vice Chancellor Prof. Barnabas Nawangwe praised its affiliate Institution MUBS about the integrity of its teaching, setting and marking of examinations stressing that all this testifies to the "very excellent academic standards in the School. He emphasized that the high examinations quality control system at MUBS is a good model for marking student exams. "It ensures integrity and that is why we at Makerere have copied it and it is what we are using now," Nawangwe said.

Prof. Nawangwe made the statement while addressing the MUBS 13th graduation in April 2018.

He also Commended Prof. Waswa Balunywa's for being exemplary in resource mobilization and management saying that: "The visible transformation that we all see at MUBS is proof that the internally generated funds have been used well at School and the credit goes to the management team you have been leading." He also commended the MUBS management for investing in staff development which is evidenced by the growing number of PhDs in the MUBS.

Prof Nawangwe also suggested that more of MUBS practices are adopted by the Makerere Colleges as this provides opportunity for improved performance and discipline.

Asked MUBS Graduands to be Honest

Makerere University Vice Chancellor Prof. Barnabas Nawangwe urged MUBS graduands to be honest wherever they go. He gave the advise at the passing out of over 1, 419 students who graduated at the mUBS graduation ceremony on April 25, 2018 at the MUBS main Campus Nakawa. "To our dear graduands, as you leave the gates of Makerere University Business School today, please be honest in all that you do, for it is such honesty that will enable you to improve and fit in any society hereafter. The world out there expects a lot from you and we are confident as your teachers that we have played our part. Use the knowledge you have acquired not only to improve yourself but also for the positive transformation of your communities. Remember, you are where you are today because of the hard work and sacrifice of others. Our prayer is that you too do the same for others, he advised.

MUBS Lauds MAK VC For His Cooperation

MUBS Principal Prof. Waswa Balunywa Commends Makerere University (MAK) Vice Chancellor for deliberately working towards deepening positive cooperation between MUBS and its parent MAK. He said the cooperation was witnessed by Prof. Barnabas Nawangwe's presence at the MUBS graduation ceremony held on April 25, 2018.

Prof. Balunywa praised the MAK Vice Chancellor's maturity and good will he has always exhibited towards MUBS. He said MUBS encountered a number of challenges recently but the School was able to overcome them because of Prof. Nawangwe's maturity of handling them.

"There was an issue of MAK increasing fees and MUBS students became nervous but you told us MUBS wouldn't be affected. We had new programs being introduced at the Mbale center and you were very supportive and understanding. We had problems last December as MUBS students were on the verge of missing graduation but you exhibited maturity and prudent leadership and we together succeeded. And now you are here with us gracing our graduation yet in the past that chair for Mak VC used to be vacant," Balunywa said

ICT University graduates 1.000 Students at MUBS' 13th Graduation

A total of 1,421 students from ICT University were awarded degrees, diplomas and certificates at the MUBS 13th graduation ceremony held on Friday April 25, 2018.

MUBS is attractive to many students from across the African continents. It is this understanding that saw the proprietors of ICT University sign a Memorandum of Understanding with MUBS.

The graduands, were reminded that this was the beginning of whole new life.

This was the time when the graduands could start the process of making a difference through a lot of discipline, sacrifice and hard work.

Compliment hard skills knowledge with Soft Skills

Mr. Patrick Mweheire the Chief Executive Officer Stanbic Bank warned MUBS graduands that even jobs like accounting which used to be considered prestigious and hard to get have since been automated. Faced with this challenge, Mr Mweheire advised the graduands to compliment the hardcore knowledge acquired from university with soft skills.

Mr. Mweheire gave a commencement speech at the MUBS 13th congregation on May 25, 2018.

"Hardcore skills contribute 15 per cent to success. Soft skills contribute 85 per cent. So you have to make a conscience effort to continuously develop soft skills," Mweheire said.

He noted that since soft skills are not learnt from school, require constant learning. Such skills include the ability to deal with people and motivate others. He also says that someone with the right kind of soft skills has to have the ability to solve problems under pressure.

The soft skills he says will come in handy for looking for employment, as that's how people with the same education on paper are differentiated. For those who want to start businesses, he said convincing someone to believe in an idea that does not exist yet, is not something that can be learnt in school. The fact that millennials stay longer with company if, the business' goals are aligned with personal ones means that even holding onto employees can be for an executive that lacks soft skills.

"The challenge that you face individually and collectively is that remembering Napoleon's birthday is no longer of much value because you can get this information off the internet in an instant," he noted.

Nakawa Mayor supports Balunywa's contract renewal

"MUBS is the only peaceful institution in Uganda and this is attributed to the good leadership of Prof. Waswa Balunywa", said the Lord Mayor of Nakawa Division.

Eng. Ronald Balimwezo was reacting to allegations that Prof. Balunywa was no longer eligible to provide leadership to MUBS because he had mismanaged the institution and hence blocking the renewal of his contract after it expired on May 25, 2018.

He has been an advocate for sickle cell disease for over 10 years. His advocacy work started at the age of 14. While in high school he began speaking about sickle cell, which was almost a taboo in Uganda. At the time information about sickle cell in Uganda was non-existent. Ssebandeke has continued to fight negative stigmas surrounding sickle cell which has become a lifestyle for him.

Beginning next Academic Year 2018/2019 MUBS students to benefit from the Government Loan scheme following a discussion between MUBS management and officials from the Higher Education Students' Financing Board, (HESFB).

On Tuesday May 8, 2018 a team from the Higher Education Students' Financing Board were at MUBS to discuss the possibilities of MUBS students benefiting from the scheme. The board was mandated by the Ministry of Education and Sports to advance the loans to students in institution of higher learning.

MUBS students were not considered for the loan scheme on grounds that MUBS was treated as a humanities base institution. Another reason was that HESFB only financed courses which MUBS did not offer.

The MUBS Deputy Principal Assoc.

MUBS Students to benefit form the Loan Scheme

Prof. Moses Muhwezi explained to the team that MUBS students had not benefited form the loan scheme and its courses were not part of those financed by the board.

Prof. Muhwezi argued that MUBS students were very innovative and had occasionally identified solutions to community challenges through designing applications and their financing would facilitate them to contribute towards national development.

The loans scheme was introduced to assist students from poor backgrounds complete their education. Basing on this, the Principal Prof. Waswa Balunywa tasked the Resource Mobilization Office under the School Bursar to explore the possibilities of including MUBS courses on the Loan Scheme.

Ms. Dinah Nahabwe, Ag.
Director Quality Assurance

Following the completion of end of Semester Two examinations for the Academic Year 2017/ 2018, central marking is set to commence on May 28, 2018.

The Quality Assurance Directorate has mapped out a plan that will be followed by the academic staff who are going to participate in marking exercise.

This activity will take place at the 3rd floor in the Main Library and all staff will be required to present their identification cards in order to access the marking room.

Balunywa Re appointed MUBS Principal

Prof. Waswa Balunywa

While Education Minister had instructed the Education Service Commission to start on the process of installing a new Principal, President Museveni opposed the move by re-instating Balunywa. "One of the obstacles that have wasted our time is a disoriented pro imperialism academia," wrote the president.

President Museveni noted that Prof

Balunywa, "has been on the liberation side ideology in addition to being an active administrator. His institution has been free of strikes; I have never found him averse of advice the times i have interacted with him. Such a person is always good to work with," wrote the President.

Prof Balunywa welcomed his re-appointment, saying it gives him the opportunity to complete his expansion plan.

He and his team, he said, have challenged themselves to transfer business education to all corners of the country by making it accessible and cheaper to Ugandans.

Expansion plans

"We have a five-year plan to open more branches in Gulu, Entebbe and maybe Fort Portal so as to increase access to business education. By opening these campuses, we want to lower the cost of accessing business education and create more entrepreneurs in the region," he said.

Asked how he will relate with Prof Baryamureeba with whom he appeared to have fallen out, Prof Balunywa said he was not interested in personal fights but was rather focused on a fight to achieve a common objective rather than discussing personalities.

"I hope he finds the statements he made about me regrettable. We shall find a way of resolving it. We are born with character but we find ways of resolving differences to achieve common objectives not personal objectives," he said.

The 13th Graduation ceremony was presided over by Makerere University Chancellor, Prof. Ezera Suruma under the theme "Developing Soft Skills for Business Development". This was the 8th time Makerere University Business School is presenting inmates for the awards. MUBS started the Luzira University Education programme in 2011 as a Social Corporate Responsibility which has encouraged inmates in primary and secondary levels to upgrade to University level.

Majority of the Luzira inmates who have graduated on this programme have transformed from being society rejects to becoming useful citizens in the country.

After successfully running certificate and diploma programmes at Luzira Upper Prison Inmates Study Centre, the School has plans to start a degree programme. Management believes that introducing a degree programme in Luzira prisons is inevitable due to the high demand for skills development among the inmates which grows by the day.

Educating prisons dates as far back as the 1700s in Europe as a religious type, where prisoners were provided with Bibles while in solitary confinement. Prison bible reading was introduced on a notion that prisoners had committed crimes and wronged other people, and being alone in confinement with the bible would allow them the opportunity for reflection and introspection.

Ex Inmate Into Charity Work

Mr. Jonathan Mugerwa an ex convict who was arrested in 2005, Charged and Condemned to death but miraculously released in 2016 narrates how the MUBS programme he pursued while in Prison changed his life. Mugerwa enrolled on the MUBS certificate programme and later upgraded to Diploma in Entrepreneurship and Business Administration where he graduated with first class on both programmes. On returning home, he was accepted back in the society and he enrolled for Bachelors Degree in Entrepreneurship and Business Administration through Diploma entry scheme. He is currently in his second year of study at Makerere University Business School.

Mugerwa together with other Ex-convicts have formed a charity organization "Buena Charity Services Uganda", (BCSU) to provide assistance and support to ex-offenders with the aim to reduce recidivism and also reduce the rates of entry into the correction centers and prisons. He explained that when offenders are structured and strict routine and rules, to the community, is very challenging and difficult for ex offenders. We help them to reintegrate into society which treats them as gone cases.

"More than 7000 incarcerated people will eventually be freed in Uganda this year. We shall join efforts with the government, churches and stakeholders to manage the needs and challenges of the overwhelming re-entry in Uganda", he noted. It's of no yield to the public, family, and taxpayers for a person to come out of prison and go back in (recidivism). Me and you have the solution and we shall not hold back, or sit back when the devil is snatching our brothers and sisters to the place of social death, spiritual death, economic death and finally, physical death. We shall intensify Correctional and severance lecturer tours in schools, universities and other institutions across the country. Please join us to mitigate this.

May God bless you.
